  - c. American College of Surgeons Trauma system consultation meeting

The group discussed the eleven priority essential items that came from the survey that was returned by American College of Surgeons (ACS) for working on. Some of these items are the responsibility of the state. They consisted of statutory authority, redesign of the distribution strategy for trauma funds to better support goals, re-address the need for TReC, and many others. A top priority is to find a Medical Director for the state. The report was 76 pages long so there are many more changes to come. There will be lots of individuals who will be needed to help with this.
