ChildFirst® is a flexible forensic interviewing model that takes a holistic approach to child abuse investigations by exploring all forms of maltreatment and provides a safety screening for poly-victimization. ChildFirst® is the most widely used forensic interviewing protocol in the United States and is nationally recognized and approved by the National Children's Alliance. It is designed for use by members of a multidisciplinary team, investigators, and forensic interviewers.

This training will provide an overview of forensic interviewing and the ChildFirst® model. Participants will learn about the child abuse forensic interview including basic components. Further, participants will learn the primary components of the 5-day ChildFirst® model and training requirements. This training does not provide training on implementing forensic interviewing.
