Presentation and possible discussion on Office of Juvenile Affairs data and dashboards

Chief Data Officer (CDO) Len Morris explained how he created today's presentation and explained this was not live data. He started the presentation explaining the data and dashboards presented.

Chair Youngblood: That was a voluminous amount of data, and we appreciate it.

Mr. Bouse: Len, this is all within the JOLTS system, correct?

CDO Morris: Within JOLTS, the internal Case Management System, the offense data

Mr. Bouse: On the dashboards set up for separate agencies, is anyone able to access that information?

CDO Morris: All dashboards are secure and accessible only by approved user ids.

Chair Youngblood: How much AI is used in creating this data?

CDO Morris: Currently, we do not use AI. We recently collaborated on a project with the Office of Management and Enterprise Services (OMES) in looking at incorporating technology, it was interesting. OMES created their own internal AI system, so that data stays internal and protected. We looked at incident data through COJC, the AI component was interesting, and we will be looking at it with being able to use an internal system.

Chair Youngblood: It is an interesting world that comes with a lot of risk. I am glad to hear these dashboards are built on secure systems. I am a firm believer in data. Data is power. This is a much more user-friendly way to interact with the data, and I am excited to hear how people change the way they do work as they grow and learn.

CDO Morris: I am excited as well. This gives us a way to converse about the data whether it is good or bad and expanding or correcting identified concerns.

Ms. Worthen: Have we started conversations about tracking involvement within both the DHS and OJA systems? Talks about total interfaces?

CDO: We have a direct interface with DHS. We have a process that links the systems every day. Now, if you open a JOLTS profile, through the interface, it will flag if a youth is involved in DHS custody.

Ms. Worthen: Do you get a flag, or do you have to go looking for it?

CDO Morris: We have to go looking for it. We are looking at fine tuning the custody coding due to the layers of a child's involvement with the DHS system.

Chair Youngblood: We encourage you to continue to geek out on the data. This is fantastic. These are great steps we are walking and can build upon.

Director's Report, a report to the board of agency activities regarding advocates/programs, public relations, community-based services, residential placement support, legislative agenda, and other meetings

I want to take a moment over the next couple of months to shine a spotlight on the incredible people at OJA. Behind every policy, procedure, program, and milestone are dedicated staff who work tirelessly to advance our mission. My hope is to share a bit more about the vital work they are doing across the state. Last night, I was thinking about all the programs Len, and his team are working on. I am going to attempt to highlight a few of their current projects form automation of forms and removing redundances, electronic grievance process, a new data tracking system at COJC, confidential platform for a staff survey on efficiencies and operations plus a dashboard that communicates the implementation or response to the survey, creation of a behavioral health system database when the youth was assessed and additional information, and a live placement list for the agency. These are a few of the projects that came to mind. But outside of the dashboards, and these projects, Len is consistently moving us towards efficiencies and data-driven outcomes. As a human, he brings humor, is a listening ear for others, and always has a smile on his face even when systems are crashing.

Chair Youngblood: I love that. I love our updates on our kiddos and staff. We have never been a Board that does the work at the desk. We look forward to the highlights. We also appreciate the incredible reports, and I want to give you all kudos.

Oklahoma Youth Academy Charter (OYACS) School Administration Report

Chief of Education (COE) Melissa Snipes let the Board know that site visits will begin next week in group home and detention centers. I want to give a quick shoutout to Kheri, Jennifer, and Ms. Cope we have started art program at COJC. On the first Wednesday of each month, they facilitate an art project that meets the standards to ensure we meet state requirements. Students that attend sessions regularly and actively participate will get credit for the class. Since the last meeting, we have had 3 more juveniles obtain their GED/HiSet and 1 youth graduate.

Discussion and/or possible vote to amend and/or approve the Oklahoma Youth Academy Charter School Annual Dropout and Student College Remediation Report

Principal Leticia Sanchez presented the attached report with the Board.

Chair Youngblood: Leticia, on the math and reading levels, is that when they first come in? If not, when is that?

Principal Sanchez: For each youth, I went in and reviewed their tests, and I entered the highest level they scored.

Presentation continued.

Ms. Miller: Ms. Sanchez, for the GED/HiSet and graduation outcomes, do you break down by how many of those who participated or did not participate in your wonderful tutoring program?

Principal Sanchez: I have not, but that is a great thought.

Chair Youngblood: I really like the employability program. Kudos for it not just being one to go out and make the connections for those programs, but also for meeting the kids where they are. Good job.

COE White: Air conditioner update, it sounds like it will be the end of the month. We are looking forward to being back in our classrooms.

Amy Wright, Federal Grants Manager

During the month of August OJA staff Amy Wright, Jennifer Francis and Ulises Villalobos completed the Hope mural in the COJC canteen and began prepping for art classes at COJC based on high school art standards, curriculum development, and safety requirements. Art classes will be once a month and will allow COJC youth to earn their high school art credit. Title II subrecipient monitoring tools were updated and will be used for onsite and desk monitoring of current tribal awardees. Updates were presented at the SAG Board meeting on August 14, 2026. The SAG Three-Year Plan Committee met to begin drafting a survey that will be sent out to stakeholders and community partners statewide to gather data that will inform the new plan.

Josh Holder, OJJDP Compliance Monitor

As of the end of August there are zero confirmed compliance violations. State compliance accuracy is at 93% (per annual Compliance Monitoring Tool) and 500 of 532 facilities have received in-person inspections. The annual Compliance Monitoring Tool has been completed with all data meeting requirements. OJA's Compliance Manual revision and update have been completed and submitted as part of the CMT. As of the first of September, compliance audit questions have been addressed and returned, and we are now awaiting a response.

Kheri Smith, Hope Ambassador/Family Support

During the month of August more than 50 youth received instruction in the Science of Hope, including strategies to strengthen identifying barriers and working through problems. Working with Hope staff at OHS, we created a hope comic book that will be used during orientation with youth at COJC. The work of hope was strong in the month of August, locally, at the state level, and nationally! I hosted an online meeting sharing the Science of Hope and common language with Youth Service Agencies, completing an agency goal to share the common language of hope with community providers. Planning meetings began with OHS to prepare for Oklahoma's 4th Annual Hope Navigator Summit, and I sat on a panel of peers, alongside OHS, to share OJA's work and pathway to becoming a certified hope centered agency virtually with the Courts in Washington State and their Community of Practice audience.

Gene Carroll, CBS Detention Program Manager

During the month of August 2026, I made visits to the Craig County Detention Center, Pittsburg County Detention, Woodward County Detention, and the Tulsa County Detention Center, where I assisted the Office of Public Integrity with their yearly licensing assessment. The visits help and/or provide guidance if needed by the facilities. There appeared to be no issues discovered or discussed during any of the visits.

Met with our partners at the Office of Client Advocacy, which I do monthly, to discuss any issues or concerns and exchange information that would benefit both agencies and strengthen our working relationship. In addition, I met with the Oklahoma State Department of Health Program Review Team to discuss possible action on OCA referrals for the month of August 2026. Other meetings attended were Detention Contract Discussion Meetings, Programs Leadership Meeting, and Oklahoma Juvenile Detention Association.

As required every month, I read through all the Liaison and Monitor Reports, and the reports appear to show no major concerns or issues. The Detention Denial Dashboard and JOLTS Available Detention Beds were monitored throughout the month. Finally, collected and read critical incidents from detention centers and placed them in their appropriate file. These reports come from JSU staff that visit a detention center to interview residents, review random video type, and ensure the residents are safe, given all rights granted to them by State Statute, Oklahoma Administrative Code, and the detention contract.

Western Region Highlights

Regional Director Randy Sheppard

Rex Boutwell Northwest Area Director

The month of August has been filled with back-to-school activities, to ensure that our juveniles and our families have resources needed to return to school. OJA has worked with families, through our local agencies and churches, such as Crossroads, PSC, Panhandle Cares, Methodist Church, the First Christian Church of Straight, The Church of Christ, and Shop the Closet, as well as others. OJA has helped to locate and provide necessities that families need for their children to return to school. Items that have been provided to OJA youth include hygiene supplies, clothing, back packs with school supplies, canned goods, assistance to parents with enrollments into online and public schools just to name a few. It is believed that if a juvenile can walk into a new school year with confidence and pride in their appearance, they are less inclined to disrupt or feel a need to be defensive or aggressive toward others. At least it's a good start.

Beaver County also has been promoted back to school with a "Back to School Bash", along with a Beaver County Children's Health Fair. The event was held at the Beaver County Fairgrounds and was promoted by the Beaver County Extension, First Security Bank, High Plains Hospice, The Bank of Beaver City, The Beaver County Coalition of which JJS Raven Vinson, is a member of, and The Beaver County Hospital Authority. It provided free backpacks and school supplies, free ice cream and food, games and prizes, and health and wellness resources for Children. The event was a huge success.

Meetings that OJA attends monthly include Coalition meetings in Beaver, Cimarron, and Texas Counties. The coalition meetings provide the opportunity for OJA to be in communication with all state and local service/care agencies in the stated counties. This helps us to be aware of programs that are being offered, as well as being made aware of any problems that are occurring in our communities. OJA has a monthly meeting with Panhandle Services for Children. PSC provides our juveniles with CARS classes as well as parenting, life skills, anger management, etc. This is an opportunity for us to discuss the youth on our caseload and to ensure that their needs are being met through their services. The Task Force is another monthly meeting that OJA attends. The members of the task force are made up of the District Attorney's Office, Department of Human Services, school and local counselors, local health providers, law enforcement, and the NW Domestic Crisis Center. Any information shared in this meeting is held in strict confidentiality. These combined resources allow us to provide information on individual cases that may have cross connections with one or more of our agencies. The goal of the Task Force is to find a way to work together, if possible, so that our communities and families are best served.

Heath Denney, Southwest Area Director

For the month of August, I would like to highlight one of our Comanche County JJS Staff, Barbara Wilson. Barbara officially transferred from Oklahoma County to Comanche County on February 23, 2026. Since joining the Southwest Area, Barbara has quickly established herself as an exceptional JJS who consistently demonstrates a strong work ethic, positive attitude, and a genuine commitment to growth.

Barbara is always willing to take on any challenge. Example: When hearing about the State's Charitable Campaign (SCC), Barbara quickly volunteered to build and design the raffle basket. She is also someone eager to learn more about the agency and its functions. Additionally, Barbara serves as a liaison to the Comanche County Juvenile Detention Center and is also the primary liaison to the Lawton Boys Group Home. The Southwest Area is extremely fortunate to have Barbara on our team!

Central Region Highlights

Regional Director Jeremy Andrews

Our Functional Family Probation and Paroled (FFP) Consultation calls kicked off this month. Following our training over the last few months, workers were able to officially “kick-off” FFP. This includes weekly consultation calls where workers time to collaborate with other workers, both in their office and in other parts of the state, to run through difficult cases, and work through ideas to help and better support our youth and families. We are looking forward to seeing how these will improve our engagement and outcomes with youth and families.

Citizens for Juvenile Justice meeting was held in August. I joined with other local community partners and members of the Oklahoma Juvenile Bureau to run through updates, trends and needs.

Following a community provider reaching out, we were able to facilitate a meeting between OHS/DHS and our four community intervention centers (CICs). It was a great opportunity to collaborate with a sister agency and community partners to better discuss supports for one another.

Two staff from Cleveland County helped train the state in the use of our new standardized court report template. Cleveland County along with Garfield and Muskogee County have been piloting the new report form and were able to provide firsthand feedback and training to JSU across the state.

Cleveland County OJA recently expanded their clothing closet at the Couch Center in Norman. The closet is available to any youth in need of clothing. The closet also has a washer and dryer available for any youth who needs access to wash their clothing.

Four supervisors from the Central Region completed the 3-day Supervisor Academy Pilot. AAD Jordyn Wheeler stated, “I learned a great deal, although I have been a supervisor for over a year. Representatives came from state office to help Samie with training and were able to share their expertise and provide insightful answers to any questions we had. I think the training will be especially helpful to brand new supervisors and won’t hurt to refresh those who have been supervisors for years.”

Dewayne Moore provided training to the supervisors in the Central Region this past month. He went over updates to policy and provided training for us to be Drug Program Coordinators.

Our various offices also attended several different work groups and task forces in their local communities. Out of our Kay County office, Miranda Duplissey attended the municipal court docket and Multi-Disciplinary Task Force, meanwhile, Bailey Lee attended the county commissioners meeting to check on detention contracts as well as her monthly meeting with CARS agency.

In Logan County Bert Huglett attended the Logan County Partnership meeting and Tara Kerr attended the CCRT meeting on Domestic Violence.

In Payne County our workers partnered with a local organization to put on a sock drive to provide new socks for youth in the new school year. We also held a meeting with the local School Resource Officers in Stillwater in preparation for the new school year

Typanga Oden and Michele Marshall also attended the Oklahoma Rural Health Transformation Program on August 10th

All in all, it was a busy but productive month for us.

Eastern Region Highlights

Regional Director Rodney McKnight

On August 5th and 6th, the North East Area JSU staff participated in an FFP 2-day training event, which was held at the Northeast Tech campus in Pryor, OK. We appreciate Ms. Kim Mason for conducting the training and providing insight into what staff can expect moving forward from FFP.

On August 19th Deputy General Counsel DeWayne Moore came to Muskogee and conducted the Drug Coordinator Training for all East Region Supervisors.

On August 25th OPI conducted the annual Tulsa Detention/CIC audit. In attendance were Darryl Fields, Alyssa Devine, TJ Miller, Detention Program Manager Gene Carroll, Northeast AD Bryson Paden, Tulsa County AAD Cole Carlton and OJA Legislative Liaison Katy Feaver.

Staff Recognition: On August 10th Ezban "Chino" Robertson began his employment with OJA. Chino will be working out of the Wagoner County JSU office and has been focused on learning and shadowing his co-workers from neighboring counties to gain experience. We are very glad to have Chino on our team!

Southeast Area

August was a busy month for Southeast Area staff. The month began with two-day FFP training at the Pittsburg County Health Department, followed by the start of weekly consultations on August 10.

Several area staff members attended the annual Crimes Against Children Conference in Dallas, Texas, from August 3-6. Their attendance was funded through local county multidisciplinary teams. Attendees included Carrie Cox, JJS III, Seminole County; Stacie Patterson, JJS III, McClain County; and Jackson Young, JJS III, Garvin County.

The conference covered case studies, new laws, and investigative techniques designed to help professionals better protect our most valuable citizens - our children.

On August 7, Lighthouse Behavioral Health held an open house in Bryan County. AAD Julie Fryer attended and toured the organization's updated facilities.

Based in Durant, Oklahoma, Lighthouse Behavioral Health is a children and adult urgent recovery center that partners with the Choctaw Nation and the Oklahoma Department of Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services. The organization is committed to transforming lives by cultivating hope and healing.
