EVENT SUMMARY

The Elk City Pages Across the Plains Literacy Workshop welcomed 66 educators from 14 districts for a dynamic day of professional learning focused on strengthening literacy instruction. Participants explored key topics like the 3-cueing system and gained a clearer understanding of the differences between phonological awareness and phonemic awareness. The sessions were hands-on and practical, equipping educators with strategies they could immediately apply in their classrooms. Administrators attended alongside their teams and appreciated learning how to better observe and support high-quality literacy instruction. The collaborative atmosphere and shared commitment to student success made the event both energizing and impactful.

PARTICIPANT FEEDBACK

“[The presenter] was so prepared and knowledgeable! Walked away with awesome hands-on ideas!!!”

“The activities that she had for us to participate led to some interesting conversations on how they can be differentiated for the different grades.”

“I loved being able to bounce ideas off of each other across districts.”
