"September's report shows continued growth in Oklahoma's revenue base, with tax revenue increasing across most major sources compared with a year ago. Business conditions remain in expansion territory, while inflation is showing signs of moderation and the labor market continues to adjust. Taken together, these indicators point to a steady economic environment."

12-MONTH END 2012 - 2025 (in billions)

Revenue growth reaches new high

September marked the thirteenth consecutive month of growth in the rolling 12-month revenue total, extending the longest sustained period of increases in the current reporting cycle. The annual revenue measure posted its strongest monthly gain since the trend began, building on the steady increases recorded throughout the past year.

The broader trajectory remains favorable, with the rolling total continuing to advance rather than simply holding at recent levels. The September results provide further evidence of a strengthening revenue base as the state moves into the final months of the year.
